October 2017

Well this has been a long time coming! Hope you think it's worth the wait. There's news of new photographs, Last events of the year, courses for 2018 and a new website coming soon.

Events 2017

Our next show is on right now, near Bracknell in Berkshire. It is the Craft in Focus Contemporary Craft and Design Fair at Wellington College, Crowthorne.

October 27th to 29th: Craft in Focus Contemporary Craft and Design, Wellington College, Crowthorne near Bracknell. The opening times for Saturday 28th and Sunday 29th October 2017 are 10am to 5pm. Jan is there with a good selection of prints, my current 3 books and her colour photos too. We have lots of photographs, and the last few 1m panoramic prints at special prices to clear the stock. These will be special order once the last few have gone. This is the show to come to if they interest you. The next show, at RHS Wisley, will just have my original hand prints on display. Click the link above for more details from the organiser.

Blog

I have largely switched my blog from Google Blogspot to DarkroomDave.com as I was having problems in adding pictures to posts with the Google mobile app. My new website will have a blog built in and this will take over as the main blog and leave the DarkroomDave one for technical blog posts.

New Website

I am having a new website built to replace my main davebutcher.co.uk site, which is over 8 years old and was showing its age. It wasn't easy to modify and maintain. The new one will go live sometime in November, hopefully! The change has been ongoing since July when the current one was giving problems so I haven't been adding new images as a result. Work to build the new one started in September and this is roughly what the top part of the homepage will look like. Watch this space!
